Lavishe is a dedication that was polished to fill in the Vietnamese›s type library, which doesn›t have many glyphic/incised choices or uses. It blends traditional details from the Roman, carved letters into a contemporary touch. Along with the flourish serif, the lowercase terminal was distinctively curved to give a calm, organic texture.

When researched Vietnamese typography in the past, I realized how few times glyphic serifs are used or created. The examples discovered were just some versions of Friz Ouadrata, Albertus,... Now, back in the modern-day, we have more fonts, but if prioritize the «made in Vietnam» tag, there›s still a lot of room. That›s why Lavishe was delivered to give one more option for Vietnamese designers.
