kerub

Kerub is a bit classical and quite peculiar. The shapes have some obvious calligraphic baggage, but they're combined with sharp and straight mechanical forms. Roundness is replaced with straight lines and curves are disrupted by a corner in places that feel surprising and logical at the same time. At least we like to think so....

The typeface is condensed and tightly spaced so that you can set it as big as possible. There are five weights in total, pretty compact but enough range for a display typeface. The character set has everything you'd expect from a modern high quality font and also some fun extras. You'll find extended latin language support, Cyrillics, old style and tabular figures, circled numerals, fractions, superiors, inferiors, ligatures, alternate glyphs, two sets of arrows and some playful sketchy icons to spice things up.
